Crushing Sangiovese

There's nothing quite like a Brunello.

What's more: there's nothing quite like a Brunello Riserva, especially from the magical 2016 vintage. And what a great bottle to open this Father's Day Weekend! (please decant for a few hours).

Here are a few specifics:

This is one alluring wine. It captures your attention with its rich, deep layers that are coupled with minerals and ginger-spice, earth tones, blue fruit (in the background), a crazy rush to the finish that doesn't really finish. We are still thinking about this wine weeks later. This one's utterly classic. It will age with the best of them.

2016 Uccelliera Brunello di Montalcino Riserva (Italy, Tuscany, Montalcino, Brunello di Montalcino) $188

2020 Talley Vineyards Chardonnay San Luis Obispo Coast $30

The San Luis Obispo Coast Appellation was approved a few months ago. It's a thrill to see the new appellation included on the label of Talley's 2020 Chardonnay.

This is the quintessential expression of Talley Vineyards, representing the cool climate and hillside topography of their home on the San Luis Obispo Coast's Arroyo Grande Valley. The refreshing complexity of the 2020 vintage is laced with pear, Granny Smiths, a soft beguiling spice, and a wonderfully smooth finish.

Raul Pérez Prieto Picudo Bierzo Arroto del Pendón Rosado (Spain, Castilla y León, Bierzo) $24

Have you ever wondered, "What if one of the world's greatest winemakers decided to 'have fun' and make a rose?"

Well, wonder no more, because Raul Perez, hailed many times over as Winemaker of the Year in publications around the globe, has done just that. For this wine, Raul ventures outside of his Bierzo homeland to the region of Leon, further inland to the East. Raul has chosen Prieto Pecudo as his muse for this lovely project.

Prieto Pecudo is a rare, dark-skinned grape native to the region. For reds, it produces deep, wildly aromatic wines with firm tannins and good acidity. For rose, the styles can vary, but here Raul chooses to accentuate Prieto Picudo's inherent strengths. The result is a darker rosado, more akin to Tavel than Provence. Wild, explosive aromas of violets, cherries and strawberries jump from the glass, backed up by slightly grippy tannins and spice.

2021 Clos Cibonne Tibouren Cuvée Spéciale (France, Provence, Côtes de Provence) $42

Badda Bing Badda Boom this is a great new vintage for this wine.

A beautiful crimson translucency in the glass with unadulterated aromatics. Red fruit, licorice, pomegranate + wild cheery cherry fruit.

And what spice!

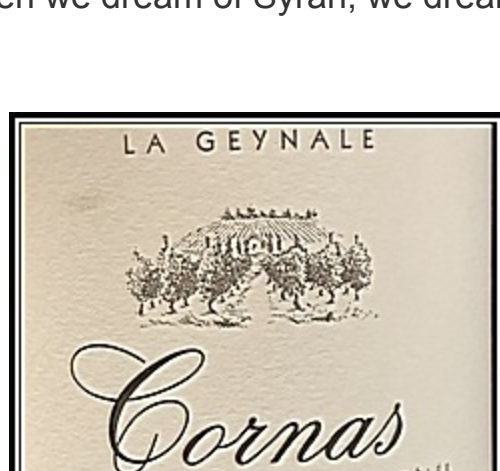

Salty-Savory-Goodness on the finish. We're in love.

2020 Domaine Vincent Paris Cornas Granit 60 (France, Rhône, Northern Rhône, Cornas) $80

'Granit 60' refers to the degree of the vineyard slope. This is classic Cornas: dense, with aromas of iron and a terrific mineral wash. There's great energy here, everything we want in a wine from Cornas. The purple-hued wine has power and tannins but is impeccably balanced. It's fresh and classically styled.

When we dream of Syrah, we dream here.

2020 Domaine Vincent Paris Cornas La Geynale (France, Rhône, Northern Rhône, Cornas) $112

Finally we have the flagship of Vincent Paris: vineyards from the famed Genale vineyard planted in 1910 along with 20-30% from neighboring Reynard. The addition of the "y" in Geynale is a nod to this unique blending.

In the past decade, Vincent Paris has moved into the upper echelon of growers in one of France's most celebrated red wine appellations.

90% whole cluster, this wine is dark and complex with endless layers.

Soaring energy here, spectacularly aromatic, dense, super-fine grain tannins, pepper and violets, exotic blue fruit; this is simply endless.
